A PENNSYLVANIA GATHERING-Hon. C. M. STRAUB-PRESENTATION OF A CANE. - In this city, last evening, there was a Pennsylvania demonstration" which will long be remembered by these who witnessed or participated in it for the good fellowship, good feeling. honest State pride, and ardent love for the Union, which were displayed on the occasion. The occasion was the presentation of a bickery cane, massively mounted with California gold, to the Hon. C. M Straub, of Pennsylvania, by a number of his personal friends and polit by a number of his personal friends and polit cordingly excluded the strong g'are of light ical admirers row residing in this city. The from the cellar, and fixed himself in an easy presentation took place at the private apart- position, distant from but in full view of his ments of Colonel Straub, on F street, which not only attracted a large delegation from the | wait long. A little band of marauding ras old Keys: one State, but was witnessed by sev. came forth, and after a has y reconnoissance, eral members of both branches of Congress gathered around the oleaginous treature. The Among the gentlemen present, we noticed cork was soon removed by a few lateral jerks Hon. S. A. Douglas, Senator Nerris of New at the top The file-like tail of a long-bearded Hampebire, Hon. Mr. Witte, Hon. Mr. McNa r, Her. Mr. Ashe, (ol. J. W. Forney, and Col. Pritchett. Col. John F. Carter, of Lycoming county, Pa., was the gentleman selected to make the pre entation speech, who addressed Col. Straub in substance as follows:

"Col. Straub :- A number of your Pennsylvania friends, some residing temporarily and others permanently in this city, have for some time been anxious to show their personal and political regard for you in a more substantial manner than a simple expression of attachment and respect The bold and uncompromising stand which you took on the great principie of self government, involved in the Nebrisks Kansas bill, while it reflected the demcornic sentiment of the noble old State which you in part represent, fully justified the confidence which we have always reposed in the soundness of your political principles. The abuse and calumny which have been heaped upon you by the abolition press, have only strengthened the attachment of your friends, and afforded no slight vindication of the patriotic character of your views, as well as of the abili y with which those views were promulged and defended. By your Pennsylvania friends, sir, I have been selected as the medium to present you with this memorial of their California gold; the one a most significant symbol of our party, and the other a no slight emblem of the triumphs of a former demo cravic administration. In selecting me as their medium on this occasion, I presume they were solely influenced by the fact, that I am your oldest personal friend now in the city of Washington; and, although you and I are now almost in sight of the Potomac, that the best, may be the happiest, years of our life were passed on the banks of the West Branch of the sasquehanna-whose swelling hills and lofty mountains will only fade from our memories when the things of this earth fade from To which the Hon. Mr. Straub replied as

HON. C. M. STRAUB'S REPLY. Col. Carter-Sir: I acknowledge with deep sensibility the subst ntial mark of respect for horses are something new, and yet have presented by my Pennsylvania friends through an appearance of humanity to the noblest of you, their representative. It is an evidence of animals. If beneficial, they should generally their kindness and generosity to an humble be adopted. On the subject, the Baltimore individual, who thinks he does not merit it; ard, permit me to add, that it is as unexpected as it is undeserved. Your reference to my at tachment to the great principle of self-government, and which is the vital principle of the Nebraska Kansas bill, is correct. Should ever this principle fail to be recognized by the people of these States (which God forbid!) there will be an end to the Union. In regard to the abuse of the abolition press, referred to by you, Colonel, it has not disturbed the equanimity of my temper in the slightest degree; nor can the open or anonymous attacks, with which I have been honored, force me to yield that notice which their authors seem so ardently to desire. Time and the good sense of a free people will consign "to the tomb of the Capuleis" the men who would "burn down the Capitol" and set their own blasphemous interpretations of a "higher law" above the laws of the land I accept the cane, and will ever look upon it as a most valued giftas a memento of friends whose names will be cherished names as long as memory last. In conclusion, permit me to say, that to support all the States in their just and equal rights is to support the Constitution; but to re use to do so, is a violation of that sacred ins'rument." At the conclusion of the presentation, the company repaired to a bountifully supplied table, on which figured, with patriotic conspicnousness, a Berks county ham, and some of the native element of the Monongahela region. As soon as full justice had been done to the good things so bountenusly provided by the warm-hearted host, Col. Forney led off with one of his bright, flashing speeches—full of sentiment, full of poetry, full of patriotism, and full of love for the old Keystone State He concluded his remarks by toasting "The Pennsylvania Congressional delegation," which brought the Hon. John McNair to his feet, who spoke for about fifteen minutes amid a perfect tumult of applause. He was followed by Hon. W. H. Witte, of Philadelphia, in one of the happiest off hand speeches it was our privilege ever to listen to. It was pregnant with thought, mind, and statesmanlike views, clothed in language at once simple, chaste and forcible. Col. Staumbaugh's remarks were pointed

THE RAIN -Last evening our citizens were rej icing at the prospects of having rain, but though the clouds were heavy, and the light ning flashing all around, there was but little rain in the centre of the city We are informed that the adjoining counties of Maryland and Virginia and the boundary wards of the city were visited by fine showers during the night, but the rain was very light with us.

ABOUT RATS-Something Singular .- A correspondent noticing an article about rats in a recent number of the Star, tells a story in re-extensive practice in Baltimore, but who is now no more. In a corner of his cellar there stood. cork upward, a number of bottles of sweet oil. It was the custom to keep one of them loosely corked, that the cruet might be file! from it daily. But the removal of the loose cork, and the abstraction of the oil, for some time puzzied the servant in charge, especially as there were no indications of the bottles having been removed The servant, however, knowing the predatory character of the rats upon the prem ises, suspected them, and resolved to ascertain, if possible, their modns operandi. But he had not to rat was thrust into the depths of the bot le. and as promptly drawn forth, and quietly held until licked down by the hungry throng about him, when the same or another rat repeated the operation. When the rate had lispersed, the astonished servant came forth and inspected the bottle, which he found almost as free from oil within as without He afterwards placed bricks over the corks of his bottles, and lest no more oil.

LAW IN REGARD TO SLAVES -"A Virginian" makes some important suggestions to steamboat owners, masters of vessels, and the carrying public generally. He says:

As it may be found more easy, by due attention, to avoid, than to get out of a difficulty, I desire, through your columns, to invite the attention of commanders of vessels generaliy, but more particularly of the steamboats. plying between Alexandria and Washington, to the following provisions of our law:

"Any master of a vessel having a slave on board, and going with him beyond the limits of any county, without the consent of the owner, shall be considered as carrying off such slave, with intent to defraud, or deprive the owner of such slave; and shall be confined in the Penitentiary, therefor, not less than two regard-a right good hickory stick cut from or more than ten years-and shall, moreover, the foreste of Nebraska, and mounted with in lieu of damages, forfeit to the owner double in lieu of damages. forfeit to the owner double the value of the slave, and pay him all reasonable expenses incurred by him in regaining or attempting to regain such slave"

Again: "If the master or skipper of any vessel, knowingly receive on board any runaway slave, and permit him to remain on board without proper effort to apprehend him, he shall be confined in the penitentiary not less than two, nor more than five years, and if such slave be on board such vessel after leaving port, the master or skipper shall be presumed to have knowingly received him."

This is a stringent law, and perhaps not known by those who might suffer the severe penalties it provides in regard to slaves, and therefore we publish it, to the end that it may put masters of vessels, &c., on their guard. to the Bank of Washington. WILSON & HAYWARD,

AWNINGS FOR HORSES .- These protections Patriot says:

"We noticed on Saturday afternoon on Balti-more street, a horse, attached to a dray, to be covered with a neat and light awning, which we thought not only an original, but an excel tent and humane ides. Why not let them b generally adopted? It is time that the health and comfort of these poor animals should be more generally regarded. Awnings, circular or square, upon a light frame, attached to the tongues or arms of vehicles, so as to permit a free circulation of air, and at the same time completely screen the animals from the sun, might have saved many a valuable horse that has been sacrificed by unnecessary exposure to the sun Horses (but for their temperance) are as liable to be "sun struck" as men, while at the same time they do not perspire so readily. It is hoped, therefore that self interest | 50 cents. if not humanity may induce those who are served by these faithful creatures during the This mixture is one of the most important medicines hot months, to make this slight effort in their behalf. May 4th, 1552. To Mewrs, Mortimer & Mowbray - Dear Sirsustice to Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, I wish to laform you that I was taken sink on the 3d day of January last, with an affection of the stomash, bowels, and liidneys. I was at ended by four emnent physicians for more than two menths—all to little or no effect. I had some knowledge of the great virtue in Hampton's Tincture, from one bottle which my the had taken two years since.

I came to the conclusion that I would take no more medicines from my physicians, but try the Tincture; and I am happy to inf rm you that I had not taken it two days before I felt its powerful in number upon my stomach. I have continued using the T ncture, and am now able to leave my room, and can eat any common diet without much incon venience or pressure on my stowach.

The afflicted, or their triends are daily visiting me, to learn of the great virtue there is in the Tine ture of Hampton's. I expect to send you several certificates in a fev cays—one, especially, from a young lady who has been confined to her room for tweeve mouths, with a disease of the head, affecting the brain.
